Specification

1. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it should be presented, preferably on a separate sheet.

Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Drawings

2. The drawings are objected to because PCT data should be removed. Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “ amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “ Replacement Sheet” or “ New Sheet” pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Claim Objections

3. Claim1 is objected to because of the following informalities: on line 3 of claim, “ at least conductor” should be – at least one conductor---. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

5. Claims 1-5,9-12,13,14, 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Wood(US 6,556,089).

The reference by Wood discloses a clock distribution circuit, see figure 24, which make use of transmission lines using conductive metal layers and dielectrics within an integrated circuit(see col. 3, lines 40-45) is shown. Figures 4 and 5a are relied upon to show buffers(23a,b for each tree /operating sector) and inductive and capacitive elements that form the resonant circuits and designed according to the transmission line lengths to allow for a particular signal frequency to be distributed. The grid as shown in figure 24, has a loop 13L that may be used to couple (branch out, i.e. a tree) to another similar IC grid(see col. 16, lines 24-30). The operating sectors being (1L,3L,...) within the tree distribution circuit(figure 24). The use of additional capacitance is noted in col. 18, lines 56-65, that affect frequency. The method steps being inherent, that is, the use of particular transmission line lengths take into account the predetermined capacitance and inductance so as to allow a particular frequency of operation.

Art Unit: 2817

Allowable Subject Matter

6. Claims 6-8, 15-18 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
